

Single-cell localization using the patient as the unit of analysis

Each point is a patient-specific median across cells of one annotated compartment

